

THE CONTACT

Welcome Pam Edwards,
our New Communications Coordinator!

Pam Edwards, a native of West Virginia, has served in marketing and communication roles for the State Fair of West Virginia, the University of Kentucky, and the United States Pony Clubs. She has also volunteered her graphic design and journalism skills at Andrew Chapel UMC (WV) and community organizations such as the Aviation Museum of Kentucky.

She is excited to be joining the staff of Midway Christian Church.

The Church

A Letter From The Pastor....

Several of you have asked what the rising numbers of Covid cases mean for Midway Christian Church. The best answer I can give is I don't know. We have been here before but it is also different this time. At this point, what I do know is that we are going to make the best decisions we can with the information we have. This means that for now, we are strongly recommending that everyone wear masks while here for indoor worship. We also have individual communion available for those who feel more comfortable with this practice. We are also putting together a task force which will set some policies to help us figure out how to continue being a community of faith during this time of constant change. If you have any questions about all this, please feel free to email me or Adele.

Playground Update

The Trustees approved using Endowment money to renovate our church playground. We installed the old wooden set 6 years ago, not really knowing how much it would be used. Last month, a new commercial playground set was installed. The plan is now to purchase new baby swings, update a few of our playground structures for younger children and spread new mulch so that the area is an inviting place for all the children and youth in our community.
