No Rummage Sale This Year

Disciples Women made the decision to try something new this year. They are not holding the Rummage Sale this year. Instead, they are working on hosting a vendor sale in partnership with the organizers of Fall Festival.

New Worship Series: "This Here Flesh"

"In her book "In This Flesh" Cole Arthur Riley wrestles with spirituality as it is now, especially for a black woman.

She points out that for her there is no ivory tower to retreat to for intellectualizing her faith. "For me, most simply, contemplative spirituality is a fidelity to beholding the divine in all things."

It's a place to be contemplative and still, yet active, to hold things in tension; to play with doubt and curiosity; to understand that answers are not easy. It is a place to explore faith as a lived in experience, to feel it in your flesh, breath and bones. Thus, it is written as "This a book of contemplative storytelling"

Thus the worship will be contemplative. We will be giving space to breathe. We will be guiding you through stretches or relaxation. We will be encouraging you to feel things more fully. We will be hopefully walking together in our humanity, as beloved children of God. Because, this here flesh, is imperfect, but it is ours and beloved by God."

Thank you from the Burchell Family

We want to express our thanks for any part you had in Phil's celebration of life on Saturday, August 6. We appreciate each and every expression of care and concern. A special thanks for the reception in fellowship hall. It was wonderful and praise is deserved to all who prepared and donated food!

Love and Blessings
Sharon Burchell

Thank you from the Settlemire Family

We want to express our thank you to our Midway Christian Church family. We had multiple people tell us that that was the best celebration of life to which they had been! Thank you for everyone who prepared and donated food. We could not have asked for better for Dad.

THANK YOU,
Richard Settlemire
